

4 Steps

to Starting your own Bible Study Class

The calling on every believer is to “go and make disciples”, but how do you do that? One way to put the Great Commission into practice is to start your own Bible study. If you have been impacted by Inductive Bible study and see the benefits of this type of study, then why not share this method with others?

Getting started is often the hardest part of any new adventure, so here are some steps to help you on your way!

Pray

Ask God:

- If you are ready to lead a study.
- Which Precept study He wants you to lead.
- To send the students He wants to participate.

Select your studies

Choose an appropriate course for your group. Consider your audience: their needs, time constraints, and previous Bible study experience. We have several study formats to meet different needs. See page 1 of Precept's catalogue at www.preceptministries.ca/catalogue.

Note: Precept Upon Precept® courses require leader training. There is also leader training available for other Precept Bible study series, though training is not required to lead. (www.preceptministries.ca/training)

Promote your class

Start local and work out from there – is there someone in your church or community that would like to be a part of your group? Is there a group of friends that you could approach about studying God's Word together? Create an event and post to social media.

You can also let others know about your class by posting it on the Precept Class List through the Precept Ministries website at www.preceptministries.ca/leaders

Class Preparation

At least three weeks before your class begins:

- Order your materials from Precept: www.preceptministries.ca/estore or by calling 1-877-234-2030
- Download your free Leader guides (if applicable for the course you have chosen)
- Familiarize yourself with the study. It is recommended to complete the first lesson in advance.
- Confirm your meeting location and time

You are now ready to begin your Bible Study Class!

If you need assistance in starting your own class, please feel free to contact us and we will gladly help you.
